News Release

Managed Asset Portfolios Recognized for Building Cohesion Between Personal, Professional and Philanthropic Pursuits.

Rochester, MI, March 2, 2016 -- Managed Asset Portfolios, LLC (MAP), an investment advisory firm, is pleased to announce its induction into the Bates Street Society granted by The Community House (TCH) in Birmingham, MI.

A non-profit organization providing a place for people to come together to build continuity between personal, professional and philanthropic pursuits, TCH created the Bates Street Society to recognize those who have made significant contributions to advance their work and mission. “These people are pillars of service, philanthropy and just giving back to the community and region,” said William Seklar, President and CEO of TCH in a recent statement.

“We are very grateful for the honor. TCH is an important organization in which we have partnered with to develop educational events to aid community members in effectively investing their personal and business assets. We support TCH due to their critical community resources which service thousands of people from multiple generations and diverse backgrounds ranging from children to seniors and from those with financial hardships to the affluent”, said Michael Dzialo, Founder, President and Chief Investment Officer of MAP.

“With values in line with TCH, MAP has proved appealing to the community due to our maintaining a steadfast, long-term approach, not only in our portfolio design but also in our commitment, hard work, and integrity in all that we do” added MAP Financial Advisor, Steve Husovsky. Dan Patterson, Client Relations Manager at MAP, thoughtfully concluded, “We have tremendous respect for the mission of TCH and have enjoyed servicing many clients whom we have met through their programs over the past 14 years”.

About Managed Asset Portfolios
